

Guardant's Privacy Policy

Guardant is committed to protecting any personal information ("Personal Information") that you may provide to us through our website or any other means. Any changes to this privacy policy will be posted on our website and will become effective 5 days after posting. Please note that this privacy policy does not apply to other websites linked through our website. Personal Information provided to other websites will be subject to the privacy policies of those websites.

We will not use or disclose your personal information unless you have given your permission, except for the following purposes:

- To assess, operate and improve our website and the services provided through it;
- To keep you informed about us, our products, and our services related to our website;
- If we are required to disclose such Personal Information by any applicable law, regulation, or legal process.

We will not sell, trade, or rent your Personal Information to others unless you have given your permission. With your permission, we will only share your Personal Information with carefully chosen, reputable, and trustworthy third parties. We will follow the relevant legal requirements and use all reasonable precautions to ensure that only responsible third parties see your Personal Information. However, we are not responsible for any breach of security or act or omission of third parties who receive the Personal Information.

Your Personal Information may be used, transferred to, or stored in countries outside your own. This privacy policy will apply to such Personal Information, whether or not required under the laws of each country.

In addition to the use of your Personal Information as described above, we may also gather anonymous information which may be used by us or shared with third parties. This is information which does not identify you, but which may be helpful for marketing purposes or for improving our website or the services provided through it.

Our website may, from time to time, use Cookies. Cookies are pieces of information that a website transfers to your computer's hard disk for record-keeping purposes and they can make our website more useful by storing information about your preferences. The use of Cookies is a normal practice in the industry, and many major websites use them to provide useful features for their customers. Cookies do not personally identify users, but they do identify a user's computer. Most browsers are initially set to accept Cookies. If you prefer, you can set your Internet browser to refuse Cookies.

Customer organization names can be used on our reference page. It is possible to remove customer names from the list per email request.
